nouncement that New York banks posited $2,400,000 in gold with the of a considerable accition to that unt was quite as much a surprise at the Treasury Department as the earlier news of the withdrawals. This prompt action of the banks was favorably commented on, and the feeling of depression and anxiety that pervaded the department this morning gave place to one of confidence. Even those who by reason of their long experience are best able to judge of the situation express themselves at a loss to for the continued and apparently fore in the history of the department, they contained so many contradictory ele-ts, and never before have the officials been unable to give an intelligible forecast of what was likely to result from the then existing conditions. At this time, they addd, everything seemed to be going counter to the general expectations. Several months ago it was stated that the supply of whisky frawn from bond just before the antici-pated increase in the internal revenue tax vas about exhausted and that the next w weeks would see a material increase in the revenues from that source. This in-crease, however, has fallen far below extations, with no immediate prospect of advance. The receipts from customs urces were also confidently expected to ince at a rapid rate. #### WILL ADVISE REPUDIATION.

Senator Peffer Bitter Against Unauthorized Issues of Bonds. TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 13 .- "If another issue of bonds is made without the authority of Congress, I shall advise their repudia-

These are the words United States Senstor Peffer used in speaking about the bability of another bond issue to an Associated Press reporter to-day. Senator Peffer has kept his eye on the figures which tell of the condition of the gold reserve None have watched it sliding down below the $100,000,000 mark more anxiously than he. It was he who objected very emphatically in the United States Senate when the first and uent bond issues were made. "I consider the bond issue fraudulent and I have not changed my position since then. I still think the government has no authority to issue bonds without the concurrence of Congress," said he. "I am satisfied that there will be another bond issue before Oct. , because the syndicate has been given the ege of taking all the bonds issued before then. There is only one thing which may prevent a bond issue, and that is the that it will weaken the Democratic strength. They are making heroic efforts to strangle the free-silver sentiment in all e States and have, to a considerable exsucceeded. Look how they squeiched it acky, Arkansas and Iowa, and arly all the other States where tests have made. They are compelling the silver to go outside the Democratic party if to go outside the Democratic party if desire to adhere to that principle. The rs think that the voters can be whipped line, and if they find out that they then look out for another bond issue ore Oct. 1. The people will be given all will stand and no questions are suped to be asked. At the last session of ess I was called impertinent because asked to have names of the the bond If there be another bond issue without the authority of Congress I intend to introduce a resolution advising the repudiation of the bonds. They were issued without authority and are fraudulent, and the people should not be compelled to pay them. This may not sound well, but there is no use in allowing the people to be imposed upon any longer. When the first bond issue was proposed. Secretary Carliele came to intend the people of the posed. uses of Congress and asked legislative thority for the issue. He went so far as epare a bill for that purpose and preand the House. Congress refusing to the Secretary gave notice that if he e not authorized by special act he would se bonds without such authority, and he id so, I called attention to the facts at e. I charged that the bonds were llegally and also introduced a resoinstructing the judiciary committee of the Senate to examine and report wheth-er the Secretary had such authority under existing law, and the committee did not report because it knew there is no such law."

SOLD THE PLANT TWICE.

Interesting Fight in Danville, Ill. Over Electric Light Company.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 13 .- An interesting legal battle is on between the First Nalonal or English Bank and the Second Naional or the Cannons' Bank, in this city. The controversy grew out of a purchase. on Aug. 14, by Lindley, an attorney in this city, of the city electric light plant for the um of $2,500. The First National Bank had an unrecorded mortgage on the plant for $16,000. Lindley shortly afterwards transferred the plant to the Citizens' Electric Light Company, which is owned by the Cannons. Henry Brand, who sold the plant, left Danville immediately after sellng out. He was located yesterday by Sheriff Moore, of Covington, Ind., at Put-in-Bay, O. LET THE TRIAL COME

FRIENDS OF TALLY-SHEET FORG-ERS GET ANOTHER BODY BLOW.

Judge Kirkpatrick Not Slow to Call Them Down-Logunsport Man Scalped on a Bridge.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

TIPTON, Ind., Sept. 13 .- The tally-sheet orgery case is absorbing the attention of the people throughout Tipton county and the interest becomes more intense as efforts are being made in unheard of proceedings in frustrating the case coming to trial. The peanut gang is resorting to unprincipled methods and sensational charges for the purpose of changing public sentiment as to the guilt of those resting under indictment, charged with altering election returns. While awaiting the ruling of Judge Stephenson on the motion to remove the sheriff and deputy sheriff in this case and appointing the coroner to act in that capacity, the peanut gang prepared a petition and filed it before Judge Kirkpatrick, praying him to appoint W. R. Oglebay as deputy prosecuting attorney to go before the grand jury and investigate the court's officials in veniring and impaneling the grand jury for the Feburary term, when the tally-sheet indictments were returned, They offered the petition to more than a hundred Democrats, but all refused to sign it, except a few tally-sheet sympathizers. This morning Judge Kirkpatrick overruled the petition in a clear and forcible manner, plainly setting forth his reasons in a concise and lengthy argument. He called the attention of the attorneys of Hoover to attention of the attorneys of Hoover to the powers of a judge in such matters and the duties of a prosecuting attorney. He especially called their attention to the verdict of the jury in the plea in abate-ment case, wherein the jury made a spe-cial finding, as follows: "That the officers whose duty it was to select and impanel the grand jury for the February term, 1895, of the Tipton Circuit Court, each and all of them performed their respective duties in good faith, and errors or irregularities that occurred in the selection of or impaneling of the grand jury were committed through the mistake or inadvertence of the officer or officers committing them without any wrongful, fraudulent or corrupt motive whatever on

With the verdict of this jury before them covering the same grounds on which they base their petition, they come before the court discrediting the jury, insulting the court and falsifying the evidence. The attorneys for the defendant are determined that the tally-sheet forgery case shall not come to trial if by any strategy or tech-nicality they can prevent it. They have their hip pockets filled with motions, affidavits and technical legal propositions to fire at the court at each turn of affairs. The contest has narrowed down to a fight between a dozen heelers and tally-sheet conspirators and the general public. Many conservative Democrats are demanding that the case be allowed to come to trial and this terrible public agitation brought to

Several of those who are so active in the prosecution are known to have had access to the tally-sheets on the night eceding the official count of the election turns, and it is the probability of an ex-osure that will implicate them that cuses them to spend their time and money n defending Hoover. Mr. Hoover takes very little interest in it himself. He is om seen about the courthouse, and it is understood that the defense is costing him nothing. There will be a sensation in Tipton county whenever the case comes to trial, which is set for Monday, Sept. 30.

Music Dealers Swindled.

ecial to the Indianapolis Journal. NORTH MANCHESTER, Ind., Sept. 13.-Z. T. Hurley, a local music dealer, is mising. He had operated at this point about two years and had become seriously involved. Some of his creditors arrived yes terday for the purpose of securing settlements, and he allayed their suspicions until last night, when he left for parts unknown. The Starr Piano Company, of Richmond, is organ Company, of Detroit, will lose considerable. Frank McBride, of Indianapolis, State agent for Smith & Nixon, is here in the interests of the Farrand & Votey company. Since Harley's night McBride has commenced reclaiming such organs as were sold on the installment plan, but not paid for. In bis rounds he has discovered that Hurley had collected money on many in-struments and appropriated the same to his own use. He has reclaimed fifteen organs, with many more in sight.

Will Put in a Pumping Station. special to the Indianapolis Journal. LOGANSPORT, Ind., Sept. 13 .- The Diet-

erich-Proal' syndicate, which controls the Logansport natural gas supply, is preparing to make extensive improvements in the plant. James Murdock, of Lafayette, general superintendent of the Logansport and Wabash Valley Gas Company, which operates plants in this and several other cities was in the city yesterday looking over the field. He has recently returned from Europe, and while in New York had a conference with Mr. Dieterich. The company has already contracted for a pumping station, which will be put in the field at the edge of Howard county, thus insuring a steady supply of gas during the most severe winter weather. Twenty new wells have recently been drilled. It is the opinion of Mr. Mur-dock that Logansport will be one of the best natural gas towns in the State during the coming winter.

WILL NOT MEET AGAIN

DEFENDER AND VALKYRIE NOT LIKELY TO RACE ANY MORE.

Dunraven's Yacht Dismantled Ready for the Trip Home-Comment of Britisners on the Collapse.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 .- There seems to e no prospect now of any more races between Defender and Valkyrie III. Lord Dunraven and C. Oliver Iselin are thoroughly disgusted with the whole business, and although mutual friends have bestirred themselves to patch up a truce in the hostilities, there is small likelihood that the crack racers will meet again. This idea is strengthened by the fact Valkyrie, which is at Bay Ridge, is being dismantled and prepared for the voyage back to England.

General Taylor, of Boston, offered a cup or trophy, valued at $5,000, for a race to be sailed off Boston, but Mr. Iselin replied in these words: "Many thanks for the generous offer. I must decline at present to sail Defender." The tone of the reply shows that Mr. Iselin is disgusted at Lord Dunraven's action in not racing on Thursday. H. Maitland Kersey, who represents Lord Dunraven, said to-day that Lord Dunraven had said positively that he will not race Valkyrie in American waters again. It seems when both owners are so positive that the matter is ended.

The feeling throughout England, as shown by the press comments, over the failure of the match between Valkyrie and Defender, though embodying many shades of opinion, generally upholds Lord Dunraven, who is considered to have just cause for abandoning yesterday's race. The opinion most generally held is that he was beset with difficulties especially abhorred by him, though in some quarters it is thought that TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 13.—The old he was possibly hasty. Knowing Lord Dun-pacer Guy, who paced five heats at Craw-hope that he will be willing to arrange for contests between his boat and the Defer er over some other course than the one off Sandy Hook, and especially that he will heats in the agricultural fair's race, the first heat in 2:08¼ and the second in 2:11½. Colonel Thornton took the pext two in 2:12¼ and 2:13. The first money was dilearned late to-night that the Defender be shortly brought to Cramps' shipyard, where a thorough examination of her will be made, the Cramps believing that they can build a still speedier yacht. Chief Engineer Pattison is now in New York arranging for her visit.

> REGRETTED BY BRITISHERS. London Press Comment on the International Yacht Race Fiasco. LONDON, Sept. 13.-The conclusion of the nternational yacht races for the America's cup furnishes the text for articles in all the London afternoon newspapers. In general, the press upholds Lord Dunraven in his refusal to sail over the course yesterday without the guarantee that it would be kept clear of excursion steamers and other craft. In a leader, the Pall Mall Gazette says that the result is unfortunate, and that it will be deplored quite as deeply by sportsmen in America as by the same class England. The article puts the whole blame for the flasco upon hindering steamers and concludes: "But no one is to blame who is worth the blaming. We can only hope that arrangements for future contests of this character will be under more satisfactory

In its yachting column the Pall Mall Gazette says: "While, in our opinion, Defender. under fair conditions, would probably have beaten Valkyrie in at least three out of five races, we cannot but regret that Valkyrie had no chance of sailing under fair conditions. To say that Defender worthily retained the cup would be ridiculous." Further on in the same article, the Pall Mall Gazette says: "We hope that the Earl of Dunraven will consent to sail for the propose cup off Marblehead, as all are anxious see the comparative merits of the yachts tested, and may the best boat win. S Valkyrie win, which we think is improbable neither Lord Dunraven nor any one else ould bother to challenge again for the America's cup, which the new trophy would replace. Should Valkyrie lose, we know that ord Dunraven would take his beating like a sportsman. Thus the races of 1895 would ught to a pleasant conclusion and a further challenge for the new cup would be nly a matter of a few years, If Valkyrie III returns without a race, it means that her owner is convinced that he did not have fair treatment at the hands of the com tee and that no contest for the cup is ever kely to occur, even though the committee lecided that future races should be sailed where there was a certainty of a fair The Sun which, throughout, has made sneering comments upon Americans as sportsmen, says that the feeling has grown up here that fair competition must not be ooked for in the contest for the cup, but adds that it does not sympathize, with that

The Evening News says that "the whole business is, in the highest degree, discreditable to the reputation of Americans as good sportsmen."
The Westminster Gazette says: "Of course we all love our American friends very much, but our newspapers beg to assure them that we all cordially support Lord Dunrav-en's retiring in disgust from a contest inmuch rowdyism and uniair The St. James Gazette says: "Once again the great Anglo-American sporting contest has ended muddily in a flasco and quarrel, not an unusual experience." The artithe Henley regatta and to the course of Mr. M. F. Dwyer with his horses in England, and continues: "In the present case the result is more regrettable, as no blame attaches to any of the parties immediately In its article on the cup race controversy the Globe says: "Wherever the English tongue is spoken there will be annoyar nd regret at this unfortunate failure." The Globe puts the entire blame on the excur-sion steamers which, it says, persistently crowded upon the course of the yachts, and thoroughly indorses the Earl of Dunraven's action, which, it says, maintained to the full the high traditions of British sport.

A dispatch from Glasgow, which is published here this afternoon, states that in Clyde yachting circles approval is expressed of Lord Dunraven's action in reiring from contest for the America's cup It is further said in this dispatch that it is hoped Lord Dunraven will return immediately, refusing to sail Valkyrie any-where in American waters. Yacutsmen Ormonde's Views.

COWES, Sept. 13.-Several prominent yachtsmen were at the castle, the headquarters of the Royal Yacht Squadron, today, discussing the situation regarding the America's cup races. Mr. Grant, recretary of the Royal Yacht Squadron, said that, as the only information the squadron had upon the subject of Lord Dunraven's withdrawal from the contest was what had appeared in the newspapers, he must decline to express an opinion upon the merits of the

Mr. Ormonde, vice commodore of the Roya! Yacht Squadron, was more communicative. He said that as to the rumor that Valkyrie had been intentionally blanketed by a pilot boat for betting puryses, if it were true, it would be long before any English yachtsman would venture to invest a large sum in building a boat to sail races where fair play cannot be secured. Lord Dunraven, Mr. Ormonde said, is a true sportsman and would not have withdrawn from the contest without just cause. "I was present at the races off Sandy Hook in 1893," said Mr. Ormonde, "and I met there the members of the cup committee. I am satisfied that they did all that was in their power to secure fair play. About fouling Defender I consider that the committee deded in accordance with the dictates of their consciences. Had I been in Lord Dun-raven's place I should have hoisted a pro-test flag at the same time Defender hoisted hers and claimed that Defender had not allowed room in which to turn."

Mr. Ormonde said he was sorry Lord Dunraven had not insisted, after the second race, that the other races should be salled at a distance from any big city. He did not consider that the races which were salled were any test of the merits of the boats. The yachts had been continually interf red with by steamers. In a fair race, with a good racing breeze, Mr. Ormonde thought that it would have been an even thing between Valkyrie and Defender. Continuing, he said: "Mr. Iselin's offer to resail the race of last Tuesday proves him to be a fair-minded yachtsman. His upright course cannot but be admired and appreciated in England. If it should be proved that the blanketing of the English ship by a pilot boat was intentional, the mass of Englishmen would not look with a favorable eye upon American yachts competing in our races, for if they should win cups in such contests it would be impossible for an English yacht to get them back if American races should continue to be sailed under present conditions. American yachts and yachtsmen always meet with a cordial reception by English sportsmen who discrimi-nate between the acts of individuals and those of a whole nation. All of the cup races in England, with the exception of the Queen's and Kaiser's, are open to American yachts. Should Defender come over here next year she would be heartily welcomed and receive fair play."

Appella ella i

Dixon Kemp, the yachting expert, writing in the Field, says: "From the single intelligible account of the cup races which has reached this country, we are unable to understand with something like certainty the happenings. The obstruction of the ex-cursion steamers laden with frantic Irish-Americans who don't know a yacht from an oyster boat, was the usual pattern. It was denounced by the club and the press in the usual prefunctory manner, but what was the use of this when the transatlantic idea of sport is to prevent its being car-ried out in the dull routine of sportsman-like methods? The fact is that the whole history of the cup, from the initial race to the last contest, has been a mere pantomime of yacht racing, with a sportsman on one side, and a sporting man on the other."

A Newfoundland Bark. ST. JOHNS, N. B., Sept. 13.-The Sun says, this morning: "The America's cup will remain on this side of the Atlantic, thanks to the New York Yacat Club and Lord Dunraven. The Defender got the three races. On Saturday she clearly outsailed the Valkyrie and won; Tuesday the New York Yacht Club won the race for her and yesterday Lord Dunraven presented the De-fender with the third race. The New York Yacht Club, the American people and the few Defender's sympathizers in this city must all feel that a victory has been won that reflects little credit on the New York
